MOOT PROPOSITION

JEEJEEBHOY DORABJI UNIVERSITY AND ORS VS NITESH MOHTA AND ORS

1. Republic of Indus is a country in South Asia known for its geographical diversity, rich cultural heritage, and historical significance. It is often called a land of unity in diversity due to its varied landscapes, languages, traditions, and beliefs that coexist harmoniously.
2. Republic of Indus was under the British colonial rule for nearly 200 years. The population of Indus is predominantly Sindus and the religious minorities include Sulemans, Catechists, Pershies, Sukhis, Boddhas and Digambaras.
3. Pershies is one of the community whose literacy rate was significantly low and lagged behind the national average, reflecting a broader trend of educational marginalization. Several reform movements emerged to provide modern education to the Pershie masses.
4. The district of Mazda is located in the western region of the state of Attar Prant. During the Colonial Era, Mr. Jeejeebhoy Dorabji, an Indian Pershie reformer, philosopher, and educator, played a leading role in the founding of Ardeshir College at Mazda in Attar Prant in 1875. It was established to provide contemporary scientific education.
5. During the colonial period the Universities were established either by the Imperial Legislative or the Provincial Legislative Councils. Many Universities were established by both the Councils respectively. Jeejeebhoy Dorabji University (hereafter referred to as JDU) was established in 1920 by the Imperial Legislative Council of British Indus by the enactment of Jeejeebhoy Dorabji University Act 1920. The Ardeshir Anglo College founded by the Pershies was incorporated into Jeejeebhoy Dorabji University.
6. Indus got independence from British rule and Independent Indus's Constitution came into effect in 1950. The Republic of Indus is a Union of States with a federal structure. Post independence Sindus continue to be as majority population and Sulemans, Catechists, Pershies, Sukhis, Boddhas and Digambaras as religious minorities.
7. The Constitution of Indus enshrines various Fundamental Rights which are available against the State. The Cultural and Educational Rights of the Minorities is one such right which guarantees to all religious and linguistic minorities the right to establish and administer educational institutions of their choice.
8. The Parliament amended the JDU Act in 1951 to which the Petitioner's argued that it infringed upon their minority status. The Jeejeebhoy Dorabji University approached the Apex Court in 1967 against the amendment and contended that they have the right to administer the University under Article 30(1) of the Indus Constitution, however the Apex Court denied this right to JDU as it was established by the Legislature and held the amendment as Constitutionally valid.
9. Due to intense pressure from the Pershie community the Parliament of Indus passed the JDU (Amendment) Act, 1981, which redefined the university as an institution "established by the Pershies of Indus" to restore its minority character. However JDU (Amendment) Act, 1981 was challenged by Mr Nitesh Mohta in the Shahabad High Court as unconstitutional, questioning the minority status of JDU as it was established by the Act of Legislature. The High Court decided on the lines of the Apex Court judgment of 1967 denying the minority status to JDU under the Constitution.
10. In 2024 through a larger bench, the minority status of JDU was again raised in the Apex Court wherein the Apex Court overruled its earlier decision of 1967 and ruled that an educational institution established by a minority community does not lose its minority status just because it was established by a statute. However the factual determination of the minority status of JDU has been referred to a regular bench.

11. State legislatures of republic of Indus are empowered to establish Private Universities through an enactment. As such the State Legislature of Saher Pradesh had passed The Saher Pradesh Private Universities Act, 2019 (hereafter referred to as 2019 Act) with the objective to provide for establishment of new Private Universities and incorporation of existing Private Universities in the State of Saher Pradesh for imparting higher education and to regulate their functions. The Private Universities incorporated under the 2019 Act retained their minority character guaranteed under Article 30 (1) of the Constitution of Indus.
12. Similarly the State Legislature of Shastra enacted the Shastra Private Universities Act, 2023 (hereafter referred to as Shastra Act 2023) which aimed to unify, consolidate and amend the laws relating to private universities in the State of Shastra and to provide for establishment, incorporation and regulation of self-financed private universities in the State for development and advancement of higher education in the State.
13. The Private Universities sponsored by both the minorities and non minorities which were established by separate Acts of State Legislature were unified under the Shastra Private Universities Act, 2023. Dr Paul University was established under the Shastra Act 2023, which is sponsored by Catechist Minority Society. This society is registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 and a Public Trust registered under the Shastra Public Trusts Act 1950. However the Shastra Private Universities Act, 2023 had no provision to protect the right of the minority educational institutions as guaranteed under the Constitution of Indus.
14. Dr Paul University along with the other Private Universities in the State of Shastra established or incorporated which were sponsored by minorities challenged the Shastra Act 2023 as unconstitutional as they contended that the Shastra Act 2023 lacks the provision to protect their minority character as it is guaranteed in other state laws. The matter is pending in the High Court of Shastra.
The Apex Court withdrew and transferred the case from High Court of Shastra to itself to be decided along with the minority status of Jeejeebhoy Dorabji University.
